Suggestions for a Scaredy Squirrel–Themed Birthday Party

What You'll Need to Host

You might include the following materials as part of your Scaredy Squirrel–Themed Birthday Party

- balloons
- party hats
- streamers
- noise makers
- pony piñata
- earmuffs
- bow ties
- confetti

Scaredy Squirrel Games

You might include some of the following games

1) Telephone

Ask party guests to sit in a circle. The first player picks a Scaredy Squirrel phrase and whispers it to the person seated on their right. Each player successively whispers what he or she believes they heard to the next person. The last player announces the Scaredy Squirrel phrase to the entire group.

Some Scaredy phrases you can use:

"Scaredy Squirrel insists that everyone put on earmuffs."

"Bigfoot is a huge party crasher!"

"If all else fails, play dead."

"This was NOT part of the Plan!"

"Caution: This story is not suitable for clownfish."

2) Freeze Dance

Select music and begin playing, stopping the music every minute or so. Party guests dance any way they like (safely) until the music stops, at which time they must freeze in a Scaredy Squirrel pose (thumbs up or a panicked expression). Look around to see if anyone was still moving when the music stopped. These children are out and can help you watch the rest of the players. The last one remaining is the winner.

For more fun, hand out a copy of "Can You Spot the Difference?" and "What Would You Give Scaredy Squirrel for his Birthday?"activity to every person in the group.
